

INDEX—STATIONS ABROAD

RAF stations and units located in certain areas overseas are given BFPO numbers for ease of postal identification.

Where a BFPO number covers more than one station, the station name should be shown in the address, e.g.:—

Officer Commanding,
Royal Air Force,
Wildenrath,
BFPO 42

Where a BFPO number covers only a single station, such as RAF Gibraltar, the name of that station should be excluded from the address, e.g.:—

Officer Commanding,
Royal Air Force,
BFPO 52

Where there are separate units located on stations, i.e. squadrons, maintenance units etc., which can be individually identified by number or title, the station name becomes superfluous in the address and should not be shown. On no account is the operational role or function of such units to be shown. An example of the correct form of address is as follows:—

Officer Commanding,
No. 010 Squadron,
Royal Air Force,
BFPO 42
