LETHAL WARNING

EJECTION SEATS AND CANOPY JETTISON MECHANISMS

1. Ejection seats and canopy jettison mechanisms are sources of potential danger to personnel and of damage to the aircraft. Serious injury (possibly fatal) may result if any firing mechanisms are inadvertently operated whilst the aircraft is on the ground.

2. The following instructions are to be obeyed:—

R.N. Safety Precautions contained in A.P.(N.)140—Naval Aircraft Maintenance Manual.

R.A.F. ALL PERSONNEL before entering the cockpit or cabin of an aircraft fitted with an ejection seat are to report to the N.C.O. immediately in charge of airframe servicing who is to ensure that all safety pins (or other safety devices) are correctly positioned to render the seat and canopy jettison firing mechanisms safe. On completion of servicing, tradesmen are to report to the N.C.O.

3. Full instructions for rendering the firing mechanisms safe are contained in the A.P.4288 and A.P.(N.) 1023 series, in Aircraft Servicing Schedules and in the A.D.5037 series.

RESTRICTED

PREFACE

It has become necessary to introduce a new series of Air Publications dealing with electrical equipment, because the existing series cannot be re-arranged satisfactorily to meet current requirements.

Information at present contained in A.P.1095A, B, C, F, G, H and M will be examined and where necessary revised and transferred to the new A.P.4343 series.

Although no new information will go into the old publication, the two series of publications will be complementary until the transfer of information has been completed, and reference must be made to either as required. Should information appearing in the new publications conflict with that already existing in the old publications, A.P.4343 is to be considered as the overriding authority.

Until the reader has become familiar with the new layout, reference should be made to the List of Associated Publications and to the transfer of Information table which appear at the front of each volume.

It should be noted that the suffix letters which are not listed are reserved for possible future sub-division and expansion of the new series. The division of the publications into volumes and parts is given in the Layout Tree included in each Volume I.

A.P.4343 contains information of a general nature on equipment which may be common to any volume in the series. Information on electrical installations associated with specific aircraft will continue to be included in the appropriate Aircraft Handbook or will appear as separate Air Diagrams.

NOTE TO READERS

To eliminate the old-style AP numbers for general electrical publications, the reference number of this publication has been changed to the electrical first element and the general information second element numbers of the current coding system. The publication has not been revised to bring the contents up to date.

When revision of information on a given equipment is required, the existing information will be removed from this publication and revised information will be issued under the specific code number for the equipment.

The initial issue of information on new electrical equipment is being made under the specific code number for the equipment.

A list of old and new publication numbers for current Topic 1 and 6 general electrical publications follows this Note to Readers.

This publication is now unclassified and new or revised leaves will not carry a security marking. Holders should delete the RESTRICTED marking as soon as reasonably convenient, and in any event before this publication or any part of it is disposed of as waste.
